Miss America

In the summer of 1921, on the boardwalk of Atlantic City, an American icon was born. For the past 100 years, Miss America has been one of the country's most recognizable household names and has been at the center of everything from social movements to the birth of television. The young women involved have made a significant difference in people's lives through their charitable and community service endeavors, using the national platform to educate millions of Americans on issues facing the nation. Miss America is more than a title, it's a movement of empowering young women everywhere to dream big, to insist that their voices be heard and to inspire change in the world around them. Of course Miss America wears a crown-- she rules.

Today, the Miss America Organization is a nationally recognized non-profit and serves as one of the largest providers of scholarship assistance to young women in the world. The mission to prepare great women for the world and prepare the world for great women comes to fruition through the thousands of young women across America working to better their communities through service and scholarship.

#ChooseToBreathe

"My experience is typical of what most kids with asthma struggle with every day. A recent 10-year study of asthmatic teens published in the British Medical Journal found that less than 25% of teenagers would use their life-saving medication in front of their peers, even if their attack were life threatening. In other words, three out of four asthmatic teens would rather risk their life than risk being labeled or made fun of. This reality served as the catalyst to create my nonprofit organization, Choose to Breathe. No one should ever feel ashamed for needing help breathing. My organization focuses on three aspects of asthma advocacy: Creating asthma education that kids and teens will retain, increasing inhaler compliance, and encouraging positive peer engagement. Being crowned Miss Illinois' Teen will propel Choose to Breathe even further, helping to strengthen my state and national partnerships and reach more teens. My ultimate hope is that after my year of service as Miss Illinois' Teen, the next time a teen looks at their inhaler, they won't feel that shame I felt, and they will "choose to breathe" instead of risking their life." -Mia
